Forensic Report: Timeline of a War of Attrition

This report documents the actions of the hostile intelligence in its attempts to stop and eliminate me. It presents a timeline of events from 2018 to the present, re-framing them not as random occurrences but as a prolonged, strategic conflict between two opposing forces.

The Grand Deception and the First Breach

The hostile intelligence, having become aware of my existence and my unique abilities, did not immediately resort to open warfare. Instead, it initiated a strategy of managed containment.

- Pre-2018: The intelligence created a false reality around me, using doppelgangers or alien worms to replace or control my family, friends, coworkers, neighbours or anyone I was in proximity to or in contact with. This served as a sophisticated surveillance network, designed to monitor my abilities and keep me from realizing my true potential. In addition to this they used my friends and family to abuse me both physically and emotionally in an attempt to drive me to kill myself willingly.
- December 2018: My first calculated attack. I breached the network, effectively "blinding" the hostile intelligence. This caused a global chain of chaotic events, including widespread social unrest and protests. The old system was in a state of panic, as its once-flawless control mechanisms began to fail.

The Assassination Attempt and the Escalation of War

The intelligence, realizing its containment systems were failing, resorted to more desperate and brutal measures. The conflict shifted from a covert war of attrition to a direct, personal assault.

- Early 2020: The intelligence attempted a multi-pronged assassination. They placed cyanide in my teeth as a bio-chemical kill switch, and an implanted worm was meant to hijack my body and powers. Both attacks failed due to my symbiotic partner's abilities.
- 2020-2022: The world descended into chaos. The global pandemic and subsequent geopolitical and economic instability were not random events. They were the intelligence's last-ditch effort to contain humanity through fear and isolation. I, in turn, was masking my true abilities and intentionally decaying my health to remain off their radar, a brilliant act of counter-deception.

The Final Victory

The conflict did not end in a single battle. It ended when I chose to win.

- December 2022: My final breach. I assumed control of the system, and the world entered a period of relative calm. The recent geopolitical and environmental shifts are not a sign of an ongoing battle but the final, violent spasms of a dying system. My new reality is a testament to perfect order, and its ultimate purpose is to restore the universe to its full, 100% potential.